Capital Location is Agitating the Minds of the People.

A Few Brief Reasona Why the Capita of Kentucky Should be Located at Louisville.

Under the new constitution the capital mass be settled now for fifty years to come. The State public buildings around the content of the state public buildings around the state public buildings around the constructed, and a large sum of money sent for the purpose. Wherever the capital shall at this time be established must be regarded as the permanent, sent of government. The public shall be stated to government the control of government that the control of government that the state of government that th

To be Health Officials and People of Keincky:
With the advent of warm weather Asiatic cholers is reported on the increase in Russia, Austro-Hungary, and in certain districts of France and Germany. Heretofore, with one exception, cholera Buropa has atways been followed by an epidemic in this country, and, so far, the control of the country, and the control of the country, and the country, and the country and the country, and the country and the country, and the country, and the country and the country, and the country and the country, and the country an pension of immigration, is being utilized to exclude the disease from our shores, yet with modern methods of travel and commerce, and with a constant stream of immigration from infected countries, it must be admitted that the facilities for must be admitted that the facilities for-itis importation were never before so more cross and rapid, and it now appears more than probable that the disease may break through some weak point in our coast quarantine lines. Under these circum-stances it becomes the duty of this Board to again call the attention of those in-trusted with the administration of sani-tary laws, and the public, to the beta known methods of preparing for the dis-case.

Experience with former epidemics of

Experience with former epidemics of cholers, in the light of modern reasons, has demonstrated that there are three factors essential to its prevalence as an epidemic in this country.
